Red Infiltration In Boy Scouting Is Told

Scheme Hopes To Pull Youth To Communism

Secret Red Agents Reported Placed Among Boy Scouts

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Communist scheme to infiltrate the Boy Scout movement and feed its youngster members "communism with sugar coating" was described in sworn testimony made public today by Senate investigators.

The internal security subcommittee in a report to the Senate termed it part of a Moscow-inspired plan to warp generations of teen-agers to the Kremlin's views, in the schools, colleges, churches and youth organizations.

"I can conceive of few greater crimes," said Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.), the subcommittee chairman, in a prepared statement released with the report. McCarran now is in Reno, Nev.

The report includes a transcript of sworn testimony given last March 5 by Harvey M. Matusow of Dayton, O., a self-styled former Communist now an agent of the Ohio Commission on Un-American Activities. The hearing was behind closed doors.

Matusow said the Communists, after a futile effort in the 1930s to undermine the Scout movement, switched to the infiltration plan, under which they hoped to mix secret Red agents among the Scouts.

"Now they are apparently attempting to infiltrate the Boy Scouts, rather than set up an opposing organization," he was asked by Donald D. Connors, a subcommittee investigator.

"Yes," the witness replied. "I might cite the example of Don West," Matusow said, naming West as a Baptist clergyman and Communist organizer in Georgia who formerly lived at Bethel, O.

Referring to Ohio Un-American Commission hearings, Matusow testified:

"I am taking this from the testimony of John and Martha Edston, and they stated that Mr. West had seven churches under his jurisdiction."

Politics Charged In Plant Site Selection

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Politics, says the GOP nominee for lieutenant governor, played a part in the selection of Pike County for the new billion dollar atomic energy plant.

John W. Brown of Medina, who is opposing Lt. Gov. George D. Nye, the Democratic nominee in the November election made the charge in an address to Franklin County war veterans.

He said in the address that Nye "discriminated against other counties by using his official position and influence to have the new atomic energy plant located near White Lake, his personal property in Pike County. The present lieutenant governor is a licensed real estate broker located near White Lake."

A newsman read Brown's statement to Lt. Gov. Nye.

"No comment," said Nye.

The Medina candidate asked for an immediate congressional investigation, saying:

"If employees of the Atomic Energy Commission can scheme within the commission to relay information to political favorites the time has come when an all-out investigation should be conducted by the commission to stop political leaks in the future."

Potato Growers Schedule Meeting

LISBON—Potato growers of Columbiana and Mahoning Counties will meet next Wednesday for a twilight meeting at 7 at the Howard Holloway farm, four and one-half miles south of Columbiana on the Fairfield School Rd.

E. C. Wittmeyer, extension horticulturist at Ohio State University and Blair Janson, plant disease specialist from the University, will be guest speakers.

The meeting was planned by the Columbiana - Mahoning Potato Growers Association in cooperation with the Agricultural Extension Service.

Huge Housing Problem Faces Ohio Atom City

WAVERLY, O. (AP)—Pike County—still numb from the news a billion dollar atom plant will be built among its hills—looked around today for housing and other needs for some 35,000 workers.

Part of the problem also confronted Scioto County, whose seat, Portsmouth, is 22 miles south of the site of the plant that will extract uranium 235 from uranium ore.

The announcement by the Atomic Energy Commission in Washington Tuesday that the $1,200,000,000 plant would be erected in this sparsely settled Southern Ohio farm area stirred up the most excitement Pike County has seen since 1912. That's when Teddy Roosevelt spoke from a train platform in the county seat of Waverly during his campaign as the "Bull Moose" candidate for president.

Pike County's 14,607 residents make most of their money raising corn, wheat and oats and turning out dairy products. Waverly has only 1,679 population, two policemen and two fire trucks. Wagons and tractors are a common sight on the town's main street.

All that will be changed when 35,000 construction workers begin coming in. When the plant is completed in about four years, it will employ about 5,000. But atomic energy officials, basing their estimate on the Oak Ridge, Tenn., plant, figure completion of the plant will add about 35,000 semi-permanent residents to the two counties.

The plant will separate uranium 235 through a gaseous diffusion process that will require 1,800,000 kilowatts of electrical power at peak production. The product is used in atom bombs, atomic engines and devices whereby radioactive isotopes are produced for medical and other research. Plant construction may begin late this year.

Mention gaseous diffusion around Pike County and you get a blank stare. Most of the residents don't know much about atomic energy. But just mention 35,000 workers and a billion dollars and they shake their heads with awe.

"Where are we going to put them?" they ask.

AEC officials are not planning to build a housing development like the one at Oak Ridge. They will leave such problems to private firms. They figure about one out of every five workers will live in a trailer, anyway.

Mayor A. S. Keechle of Waverly, a linotype operator on one of the town's two weekly newspapers, called his town council together Tuesday night to talk over housing and new business for the community. He is trying to interest some of Waverly's wealthier citizens in forming companies to build homes, restaurants, motels and other business places needed to take care of the boom.

CIO High Command Meets To Endorse Stevenson, Sparkman

WASHINGTON (AP)—The CIO high command opened a three-day political session here today with all signs pointing to endorsement of Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate for President.

Headed by Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO) and Jack Kroll, director of the organizations' Political Action Committee (PAC), some 500 CIO leaders streamed into town to talk candidates, money and strategy.

The national CIO has never gone beyond an endorsement of presidential and vice presidential candidates. State and district CIO councils handle the big labor organization's political drives on the state and local level.

Timing uncertain

Official CIO backing for Stevenson, now the governor of Illinois, seems a foregone conclusion, but the timing is still a bit uncertain. Best bet is that the executive board, a 46-man body which includes a top official from each of 35 CIO unions plus 11 national officers, will get officially behind Stevenson at a meeting scheduled for tomorrow.

Today's sessions—the vice presidents meet by themselves in the morning and with PAC officials in the afternoon—are likely to be dull. "Out-talking Taft"

Several weeks ago the CIO news said editorially that Dwight D. Eisenhower's campaign for the Republican presidential nomination was "out-talking Taft."

The AFL, older and larger labor federation, has not given its official blessing to a presidential candidate since 1924, although individual AFL unions and officers often campaign for one candidate or another. This year, too, the AFL is expected to keep national hands off the presidential race.

The PAC says its number one election-time problem is getting out the vote—making sure that eligible voters register and go to the polls Nov. 4.

A second problem sure to come in for discussion is money and how to raise it. The PAC is shooting for at least one million dollars in contributions from its five-million plus membership. The biggest sum it ever raised was $1,200,000 in the 1950 congressional elections.

Zanesville Approves Bond Issue For Dam

ZANESVILLE, O. (AP)—Zanesville voters Tuesday approved a $250,000 bond issue for a new dam, but it looks now like the project will cost the city only about $65,000.

That's because bids for the work are way below estimates of U. S. Army engineers, city officials say.

Both the city and federal government will help pay for the dam to replace one across the Muskingum River that began going to pieces years ago. Congress last July appropriated $250,000. The dam will cost about $300,000.

The city bond issued passed 7,777 to 967, with a 65 per cent favorable vote needed.

FIRE OPS WORKERS

CLEVELAND (AP)—All of the 437 Office of Price Stabilization employees in this region who are going to be fired have been notified, an OPS spokesman said today. Congress reduced the amount of money the OPS can spend and in the Ohio-Michigan-Kentucky region the staff will be cut from 816 to 379.

Police reported minor damage to both vehicles.

Ike Blasts Talks Between Truman, Adlai Stevenson

Charges President Is Determined To Continue Policies

DENVER (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower says Adlai Stevenson's White House visit shows the Truman administration is determined to continue its policies through a hand-picked successor.

Those policies, Eisenhower charges, have carried the nation to a situation "of bewilderment, indecision and fear for the future."

In his sharpest attack on the Democrats since his own nomination for the presidency, Eisenhower declared last night in a written statement the Washington conferences between Gov. Stevenson of Illinois and administration leaders presented these "far-reaching implications:"

1. The question as to whether the President and his Cabinet "can possibly contemplate using resources of the federal government to influence the judgments of voters."

2. An implied decision to involve non-political officers, through the inclusion of military and national security personnel in the meetings, in a political campaign "in which they have no part."

3. "The obvious fact that the Democratic party, if given another four years to control our destinies, would not change its policies."

"The American people want a change," Eisenhower said flatly. Then he gave a hint of issues he will pound at during his campaign by declaring:

"They want a change in order to replace corruption with honesty; reckless spending with economy; inflation with economic stability; mismanagement in foreign affairs with clear-cut policies and programs for positive peace; brazen assertions of 'inherent power' with constitutional government, both in spirit and deed."

The last remark was an obvious slap at President Truman's seizure of the steel industry under what Truman termed the inherent powers of the government. The Supreme Court later held the seizure unconstitutional.

Eisenhower and Sen. Richard Nixon of California were making it clear they will do everything they can to tie the Stevenson to the Truman administration in the minds of voters.

Before he left for his speech at the Illinois State Fair today at Springfield, Stevenson's home, Nixon told a Denver news conference that the White House meeting was proof Stevenson is "part and parcel of the Truman gang."

U. N. Demands Reds Locate POW Camps

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The United Nations today accused the Reds of endangering the lives of U. N. soldiers in North Korean prison camps by failing to pinpoint camp sites.

The U. N. asked the Communists to furnish the information "without further delay."

The request was in a letter from Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison, chief U. N. truce delegate, to North Korean Gen. Nam Il, top Red negotiator.

The letter was handed over at a liaison officers' meeting this afternoon at Panmunjom. The main delegations are in recess until Tuesday.

Harrison said he asked on Aug. 8 for information on the location and numbers of Communist prisoners camps after the Reds shifted some of their camps, including the one holding Maj. Gen. William F. Dean.

Harrison told Nam that failure to "provide this information promptly endangers the lives" of Allied soldiers in North Korea.

Youngstown Sheet, CIO Formally End Strike

YOUNGSTOWN, O. (AP)—Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. and the CIO-United Steelworkers have signed a contract, putting a formal end to the recent steel strike.

Production restarted after the union was promised a pay increase and a modified union shop.

The pact signed Tuesday runs from Aug. 11 through June 30, 1954, with a wage reopening clause effective in June, 1953. It includes the pay and union shop agreement.

WETUMPKA, Ala. (AP)—A grim-faced nurse who admitted poisoning her 2-year-old niece and calmly watching an autopsy on the body was called to trial here today on the first of two murder charges that could mean her own life.

Gray-haired Mrs. Earle Dennison is accused of feeding arsenic to Shirley Diann Weldon, who died May 1, and also to her tiny sister Polly Ann.

Shirley was only a few days old when Polly Ann died 2½ years ago after a sudden, violent illness. Only the death of Shirley Diann was on the court docket for today.

The widowed, 54-year-old nurse who worked at the hospital where the child died was arrested a week later after the parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Weldon of the nearby Claud community, swore out a murder warrant.

Sheriff Lester Holley said Mrs. Dennison admitted, without a show of emotion, that she gave Shirley Diann arsenic in a soft drink and took her to the hospital when she went into convulsions. The child died five hours later.

State Toxicologist C. J. Rehling said the autopsy, performed with Mrs. Dennison present, showed arsenic.

Still suspicious about the death of Polly Ann nearly three years before, the Weldons arranged to have her remains analyzed. Dr. Rehling said she, too, had traces of the deadly metallic poison, and another warrant was signed against the aunt.

Sheriff Holley said Mrs. Dennison denied intentionally poisoning Polly Ann, but admitted leaving a salt shaker containing arsenic at the Weldon home after a visit. She said she used it to make an insect killer.

The sheriff said the woman told him, however, that she collected $5,000 on an insurance policy after the first child's death. She gave no motive for the admitted slaying of Shirley Diann, but Holley said she reportedly had two policies on her totalling $6,000.

After the two murder charges were filed, authorities decided to look into the death of Mrs. Dennison's husband Lem last Oct. 17. His body also was dug up, but no poison was found.

Rogers Boy Still In Critical Condition

Frank Davis, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Davis of R.D. 1, Rogers is still in critical condition today at the Salem City Hospital where he was brought Monday after being struck by a car near his home.

State Highway Patrolmen reported that the boy drove his bicycle into the path of a car operated by Donald H. Williams, 53, of R.D. 1, Rogers. The youth sustained a severe skull fracture.

Woman Is Injured In Highway Mishap

Mrs. Julia Hilliard, 76, of MC1, Salem is in good condition today in the Central Clinic where she was brought following a two-car mishap which occurred at 5 p. m. Tuesday on Route 62, one-half mile west of Salem.

Mrs. Hilliard sustained a dislocated right arm and body bruises when her car collided with an auto operated by John Walker, 52, of R.D. 2, Alliance, State Highway Patrolmen reported.

2 Road Project Bids Received

Rt. 14 Cost $539,086; Rt. 62 Bridge Planned

Contracts for two additional highway improvements in the Salem district were to be let today by the state highway department, following the receipt of bids at Columbus yesterday.

The A. J. Baltes Co. of Norwalk submitted a bid of $539,086 for the paving of two and one-half miles of State Route 14, which is being relocated in Columbiana and Fairfield Township, and the construction of a concrete slab bridge over the Y. & S. railroad near Columbiana. The estimate on the job was $517,600.

Second project planned is the removal of the Pennsylvania overpass on Route 62 just east of Alliance and replacing it with a bigger span.

The William M. Brode Co. of Newcomerstown bid $399,004 to erect a steel reinforced bridge so as to accommodate a 96-foot roadway.

Completion date is set for Dec. 31, 1953. The railroad will share a small portion of the cost, it is learned.

In this connection Route 62 will be widened and paved for a four-lane road extending east from Alliance for a distance of 500 feet. At that point it will taper to the present Route 62 thoroughfare which is now in the process of being repaved.

Although Route 62 between Alliance and Westville is being graded for four lanes, only two lanes are to be paved at the present time. V. P. Grimes, project engineer, said the work is only 29 per cent complete. Steel for the new Mahoning River bridge has been hard to get.

The road will not be completed until sometime next summer, but may be opened temporarily to traffic after winter weather sets in.

Man Hit By Acid Thrown By Caller

NEW PHILADELPHIA — John Brokaw, 31, of near-by Goshen, is battling to save his eyesight at Union Hospital today after he was seriously burned by acid tossed into his face at 4 a. m. today by an unknown caller when he responded to a knock at his door.

Brokaw told officials he did not know who the assailant was because he slammed and locked the door immediately after he was showered with the acid.

He received severe burns on his face and lesser burns on his neck and shoulders.

Brokaw, who lives alone, waited an hour in his intentionally darkened home until two workers at a near-by sewer pipe plant arrived to pick him up in their car as was their custom.

Truman Ready To Take Orders From Candidate

"Whistlestop" Tour Reported Out After Talk With Stevenson

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois tightened his command over his presidential drive today, with President Truman ready to take campaign orders.

As a result of an historic—if somewhat indecisive—White House conference yesterday, Stevenson had assurances he could count on Truman as a subordinate member of his team.

And it was strictly up to the Democratic presidential nominee as to when and where he would insert Truman in the lineup. That was to be determined later in line with Truman's statement that "details will be worked out at a later date."

The President was quoted by an authoritative source as offering to undertake a whistlestop tour for the Democratic ticket, but as telling Stevenson:

"You are the one who has got to run the campaign—it is up to you."

Stevenson apparently made no direct reply. But some of his friends believe about the last thing he now wants the President to do is to take to the whistlestops, since any such move might distract attention from the nominee's own efforts to carry his cause to the country.

Apparently left unresolved in a three-hour session publicly acclaimed by its two top participants as "very satisfactory" was a conflict in tentative speaking dates for Labor Day.

Stevenson had planned to open his campaign Sept. 1 with a speech in Detroit, where Truman began his successful 1948 drive. Truman

Clerk Appointment Is Held Legal

City Solicitor Walter J. Hunston ruled today that W. H. Matthews was a de facto member of the Salem Civil Service Commission from the date he was verbally appointed by Mayor Harry M. Vincent, April 2.

Mr. Hunston stated that the naming of the new clerk in the water department, therefore, was entirely legal.

He said, however, that laws restricting payment to Mr. Matthews except during the period after he had been formally appointed by letter May 28.

Roy W. Harris, secretary, had charged that the appointment of W. H. Matthews to the commission was not legal prior to May 28 because it was made verbally. City Auditor Helen Betz Coyne withheld salary payment to Mr. Matthews as a result.

Mr. Harris further contended that the appointment of Mary Ruth Koppenhauer as water department clerk was also illegal because a full commission did not exist at that time.

Mayor Harry M. Vincent said that he had made a verbal appointment of Mr. Matthews to the commission April 2, and had followed it up with a letter, dated May 28, confirming his action.

Marines Stop New Red Attack

Chinese Losses Heavy In Drive For Hill

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—U. S. Marines and artillery today cut to ribbons 750 Chinese Communists assaulting leathernecks entrenched in prefabricated bunkers atop Bunker Hill on the Korean Western Front.

The battalion-size attack — second major bid of the Chinese to recapture the height — was broken at dawn. Chinese losses were described as very heavy.

The Marine commander, Maj. Gen. John T. Selden, said the strategic ridge overlooking the Panmunjom truce site "is Marine territory now. We certainly are going to hang on to it."

Marine foot soldiers, supported by flame-throwing tanks, captured the strongly fortified height and nearby Siberia Hill early yesterday. The Reds counterattacked at dusk yesterday but were thrown back with heavy losses.

There was no indication the Chinese had given up hopes of retaking the position. In mid-afternoon today a Marine spokesman reported that Communist artillery and mortar fire was falling on Bunker Hill.

The Navy said its carrier planes struck a heavy blow yesterday against major Red supply and troop concentrations south of Wonsan, heavily battered East Coast port city. The Navy said 40 buildings, including barracks, were flattened with heavy casualties to Red troops.

Communist shore guns near Wonsan shelled Yodo Island, about 15 miles northeast of Wonsan, hitting the small repair ship USS Grapple. The Navy said damage was slight and that there were no casualties.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said fighter-bombers ranged across the front today in support of ground troops but concentrated mainly in the Bunker Hill region. Pilots reported they destroyed 31 troop bunkers, six mortar positions, three field pieces, and two personnel shelters.

Government Pays 4th Of U. S. Health Bills

WASHINGTON (AP)—It cost Americans 12½ billion dollars for medical care in 1951 and about one-fourth of the bill was paid by government.

This estimate was reported today to members of the President's Commission on the Health Needs of the Nation.

Members of a panel that held discussions recently on medical facilities reported the government payments include care for members of the military services and federal contributions to state and local health programs. Local and state payments also are included.

U. S. Congressmen Tour Korea For Questioning

WASHINGTON (AP)—A group of congressmen will leave for Korea Friday to seek answers to two of the main questions they say are puzzling their constituents:

1. How can the Korean campaign be settled?

2. Is there a shortage of American ammunition?

The party, including nine members of the House Armed Services Committee, will return Sept. 14.

Hobson's Commander Blamed For Collision With Carrier

WASHINGTON (AP)—The mid-Atlantic collision of the carrier Wasp and the destroyer-mine-sweeper Hobson at a cost of 176 lives has been blamed on an "unexplained left turn" ordered by the Hobson's commander.

A Naval Court of Inquiry announced late yesterday that a "grave error of judgment" by Lt. Cmdr. W. J. Tierney caused the April 26 collision that sent the Hobson to the bottom and the Wasp limping back to New York, badly damaged.

All other officers were cleared of any responsibility for the tragedy, one of the worst peacetime disasters in U. S. Navy history.

Commander Tierney of Philadelphia, the only person blamed in the incident, went down with his ship and a Navy spokesman said the court's findings probably would end the case. The court said the reasons for Tierney's actions "will never be known."

No recommendations were made for disciplinary or corrective action regarding personnel or equipment of either vessel, both of which the court found in good condition at the time.

The collision occurred before and landing exercises to come aboard.

The carrier's commander, Capt. Burnham C. McCaffrey of Canova, S. D., said if the Hobson had turned right during the maneuver all would have been well.

Children should be taught the necessity for finding out if there are underwater obstructions where they dive, and adults and children alike should always observe water safety rules.

Reds Say 1,000 Killed In Bombing Of Capital

TOKYO (AP)—Peiping radio said last night that early reports of the bombing of Pyongyang, the North Korean capital, by U. S. bombers last Sunday indicated that more than 1,000 civilians were killed or wounded and 676 houses and cave shelters destroyed. The Red propaganda broadcast, heard in Tokyo, said more than 500 bombs were dropped.

Stevenson Calls "Brain Trust" To Map Campaign Strategy

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Adlai Stevenson — backed by a brand new display of harmony in the Democratic high command — issued a call today for a special nine-member committee to meet here Saturday and begin charting his campaign strategy.

The call came as Stevenson's Illinois partisans won an intraparty row with the selection of Lt. Gov. Sherwood Dixon to head the state Democratic ticket in the Nov. 4 election.

Stevenson supported Dixon as "the logical choice" to replace him as Democratic nominee for governor of Illinois, a spot Stevenson relinquished when the Democratic National Convention nominated him for President.

The 25-member State Democratic Central Committee picked Dixon by a slim margin over Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett to oppose Republican William G. Stratton in November. Stratton, state treasurer, is a former congressman.

Stevenson gave a beaming show of harmony between himself and President Truman when he returned here last night from a visit to the White House.

The Democratic presidential nominee brushed aside reported differences with Truman over campaign strategy by saying Truman is "just as co-operative as he can be" and is ready to do "whatever we want him to do."

Stevenson disclosed in a statement that he has chosen eight men and one woman to be his "brain trust" in charting strategy and working out speaking dates and places. Invitations to speak in all parts of the country are piling up at his special campaign headquarters but no definite decision has yet been made on any of them.

The campaign committee members are: Sen. Earle C. Clements of Kentucky and Sen. Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico, chairman and vice chairman, respectively, of the Senate Campaign Committee; Rep. Michael J. Kirwan of Ohio, chairman of the House Campaign Committee; Mrs. India Edwards, vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee; Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman; George Ball, Washington, D. C., attorney representing independent citizens groups supporting Stevenson; Sen. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma, chairman of the Democratic National Committee Speakers Bureau; Wilson Wyatt, chief of Stevenson's personal campaign headquarters, and the new national Democratic chairman, Stephen A. Mitchell.

This group will be Stevenson's campaign committee and his advisory link with the National Committee. The strategy meeting will open at noon Saturday and is expected to continue through Sunday.

Armour Workers Get Strike Green Light

Temperatures Climb In Central States

By The Associated Press

Temperatures began mounting in the central portions of the nation today and Texas entered the 12th straight day of a blistering heat wave.

Warmer weather spread across the Northern and Central Rocky Mountain states, the Northern Plains states, the upper Mississippi Valley and the upper Great Lakes region.

A cool front nosed across the Oklahoma border into Northern Texas, accompanied by a "baby tornado" and some thundershowers, and then retreated back north.

More rain fell yesterday in sections of the South and New England where drought has severely damaged the corn, cotton and tobacco crops.

tion, and a Boy Scout troop was organized in each of the churches, and his plan was to indoctrinate.

"I met him (West) at a meeting of the Communist party in 1951." The subcommittee published photographic copies of Communist literature Matusow said was used in 1930 and later in an effort to set up a Communist-led organization known as "Young Pioneers" as a rival to the Boy Scouts.

Called Organization For Wars

"The Boy Scouts is an organization for capitalist wars!" read captions emblazoned on the covers of this literature. "Smash the Boy Scouts! Join the Young Pioneers!" The document was larded with slogans that "Boy Scouts are for bosses' wars" and "Boy Scouts take part in murder of striking workers."

Matusow said that as a Communist he saw a high-powered plan evolved to infiltrate high schools, community and even church clubs, and labor unions. He termed Scout infiltration a part of this plan.

Another witness, Herbert Romerstein of Brooklyn, N. Y., told of being recruited into the Communist-front as a high school student at the age of 15. Romerstein said he finally divorced himself from communism.

He said Communist youth work first was handled through the through American Youth for Democracy, and finally split into two new fronts.

One of these, Romerstein said, is "the Young Progressives of America . . . a broad youth organization that could rope in many young people who didn't know what communism was. . . . They get young people who are not yet Communists. The idea is to get people who are pretty green."

The other, he said, is the Labor Youth League, frankly offering Marxist training to young persons interested in communism.

The youths are between the ages of six and 13. Their attendance is made possible by the generosity of organizations and individuals.

The trip to Camp Herrick will be made in two chartered buses.

Major Paul Hoffman is in charge of the camp.

The Flower Show

It's a creditable undertaking—that flower show which Salem's two garden clubs are holding Thursday in the Masonic Temple.

And what an opportunity for our world-weary citizens to forget our cares and walk through the "Garden of Friendship," viewing the beautiful flowers painted in colors from the palette of the Master Painter.

We make a bow to those fine ladies of the garden clubs who year in and year out do much to promote city beautification. They hold the annual flower shows so that the public might benefit, but in reality, the shows are a tribute to them.

Tennessee Decided It

Refusal of Tennessee Democrats to send 83-year-old Kenneth D. McKellar to the U.S. Senate for the seventh term was a rebuke to his age.

As President Truman has pointed out, the Democratic party has created a problem of seniority and senility by automatically re-electing too many wheelhorses to Congress. Famed Rep. Robert L. (Muley) Doughton of North Carolina will be 89 this year; 86-year-old Rep. Adolph J. Sabath of Chicago won his first election soon after the turn of the century and never has lost one since. McKellar first came to Congress in 1911.

Voters owe respect to experience and are willing to pay it. But there comes a time when men of experience who have grown old while gaining it owe respect to voters. Specifically, they owe to voters the courtesy of bowing out gracefully before they must be thrown out awkwardly.

McKellar had to be thrown out. Mr. Truman, on the other hand, bowed out—a decision whose wisdom and timing are destined to become more admirable as it becomes more evident what would have happened if Mr. Truman had ignored his own birthdays as blandly as Vice President Alben Barkley had been ignoring his birthdays before Chicago.

Mote and Beam Dept.

An Associated Press summation of good feeling in the Olympics concludes that the friendliness of Russian athletes at Helsinki was for propaganda purposes and therefore subject to discount.

All, right, suppose we discount it 90 per cent. Suppose we grant everything staid about athletes in Russia—that they are used as pacesetters by the state, that they do not have to work like other people, that they are important units in the state's propaganda organization.

But before making comparisons, perhaps it had better be acknowledged that U.S. athletes have been used for the same purposes, thought not always under government auspices. Even so, during wars it has been customary to use athletes for exhibitions, to boost military morale. Baseball tours to build goodwill for America have been standard practice.

It has been said that the Harlem Globetrotters probably have made as many friends for the United States as ECA. Under the curious rules of amateurism, some U.S. athletes not only do not work like other people but are not expected to work at all; they are subsidized. And Charles Sawyer, secretary of commerce, has proposed to the White House that an iron-curtain distance runner and his javelin-throwing wife, both Olympic winners, should be invited to visit this country to get better acquainted because they are eminently nice people.

There are times when the great American custom of heckling Russians goes so far they get heckled for being like Americans.

Why Won't You Vote?

From now until election day next Nov. 4, everything possible will be done to make Americans vote.

Most of this will be done on a non-partisan basis. There is nothing partisan about the fear that Americans who fail to vote may fail to believe in representative democracy.

Nothing is less worthy of Americanism than to accuse one party or the other of hoping for a light vote; neither has anything to gain from neglect of the ballot.

But to get down to cases on the vote puzzle, there is only one way to solve it. More needs to be known about the reasons why so many Americans do not vote. Until that information is at hand, all ideas about stimulating potential voters are guesswork.

The ideas are no good, unless they get to the real trouble, which is something in voters' minds.

Ultimately, voting amounts to acceptance or rejection of the privilege of being an American citizen.

If you are one of the non-voters, why won't you vote? Every American who thinks voting is a privilege and duty would like to hear your answer.

If you want the boys overseas to know that we're backing them up, blood will tell.

The well-dressed man should have 14 suits, says a stylist. Hurray! We're only 13 short!

Tax Problem

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Political Candidates Talk of Cuts

WASHINGTON

It's strange what a change just a few weeks make—even in a presidential campaign. Here is some interesting chronology:

June 11—News dispatches reported General Eisenhower as telling the New York delegation to the Republican national convention that federal policies should be pointed toward a tax reduction based on a cut in the budget of $40,000,000,000 in the next two or three years and that this could be achieved if the communist threat to the peace of the world were dispelled, as he believed it can be.

July 30—Governor Stevenson, the Democratic nominee, is described in news dispatches from Springfield, Ill., as answering General Eisenhower by saying that he felt "very strongly" that "foolish and irresponsible" promises of tax reduction were very "misleading." He said he hoped that neither party would offer forlorn hopes of large tax reductions while at the same time demanding a defense establishment adequate to security requirements.

Aug. 9—Dispatches from Springfield, attributed to an "authoritative source," reveal that Governor Stevenson feels that within two years there can be a substantial cut in defense spending and some start made toward lowering taxes and the national debt. He envisions a cut in military spending in the budget for the fiscal year 1953, which begins July 1, 1954, and he emphasizes that his plan depends entirely on the condition that the world situation will get no worse in the meantime.

SO NOW the Democratic nominee doesn't feel it is "foolish and irresponsible" to say in the middle of August what the Republican nominee said in the middle of June.

But the truly significant development is that somehow or other—by preception duly sharpened by contemporaneous happenings in the field of politics, or otherwise—the leaders have discovered that the American people have a real tax burden on their backs.

What, after all, interests 55,000,000 voters—if that be the number which the experts say will vote this autumn? What else touches the individual citizen so acutely as taxes? Yet, up to now, the Democratic administration has insisted that taxes aren't high enough, and President Truman has asked each year for higher taxes than Congress has been willing to vote. Only the political expediency of an election year prevented an insistence by the Truman administration during the recent session of Congress on another tax bill, sending tax rates still higher.

The argument usually made at the White House is that the wealthier classes aren't taxed enough and that corporations can stand even higher taxes. This sort of demagoguery is echoed by labor-union leaders, who have been insisting right along that tax rates could be increased.

Will Governor Stevenson follow the usual Democratic party line and recommend tax increases? His latest statement indicates that he would like to be recorded on the side of tax reduction now, but he hedges it, as do all the others, with the comment that everything is dependent on world conditions.

THE PRESENT administration has not shown the slightest interest in making drastic reductions in those parts of the national budget which are not directly related to defense preparations. In fact, the administration has repeatedly argued for more non-defense spending on the theory that social progress demanded it. Does General Eisenhower have in mind cuts in the budget all along the line?

If the recent comments from both the Democratic and Republican nominees indicate an awareness of the tax problem and of the dangers that lie ahead when incentives are impaired—as they certainly will be if taxes are not reduced—then the debate in the newspaper dispatches will prove salutary, and it will not matter who urges tax reduction so long as there is some tangible basis for believing it will materialize in the not-too-far-distant future.

Welcome Stranger

By TRUMAN TWILL

I am continuing to brood over the proprieties, in the event a flying saucer should glide to a stop on my mortgaged tract and must make the first contact with beings from outer space.

While it is possible the down-to-earth boys in Washington and elsewhere may be able to pooh-pooh the saucers into oblivion, the way they almost got rid of Galileo, Pasteur and Wilson, there always is the chance they might be wrong—about a 10 to 1 chance, on the basis of previous performances.

So the first question is whether to pick up the .22 on the way to make the first contact, if it takes place in my small ballfield. I think I shall not fool with the .22 nor with the .38 revolver, either. The space beings would not have read the papers or watched television. They would not be impressed.

I think I shall pick up, instead, a handful of popcorn if there's some handy, or a candy bar, or possible a box of breakfast food—anything to establish a common footing of hunger and the satisfaction thereof. This might well be the only thing earthlings will have in common with space beings—appetite.

Aside from belly-hunger and the satisfaction thereof, these creatures may be incapable of understanding the cold war, mechanical refrigeration and its importance to civilization, the quibble over the origin of Shakespeare's plays, the importance of the 1952 presidential election and whether or not steelworkers should put up a fight of join the union quietly.

Even if the communications barrier is surmounted, it may be some time before space beings can savvy why they should club up with us against the other side, or why they should cease to think about the universe and concentrate on doing a bang-up job on their immediate neighbors—a finger in the eye, a gun butt behind the ear, a knife in the ribs.

This first contact with beings from space could be a ticklish thing, no matter who makes it. It gives the wrong impression. A false move at the outset might spread the word through space that earthlings are mad-dog killers and not to be given the benefit of a doubt.

If responsibility comes to rest on me, I intend to make as good an impression as I can. If there is a bottle of pop handy, I'll offer them that. Or a stick of chewing gum. With an open hand, too. And a wag of the tail.

I want these beings to start off on the right foot, that's the whole thing. I know how peeved and sour I'd be if, some day I was tooling along in my antediluvian bucket of bolts, the mess took off and I landed on a nearby planet among inhospitable natives.

I'd throw old bolts in reverse and come home to get the .22, also the .38. I'd write a mean letter to the editor, complain to the FBI and urge both presidential candidates to say something in my behalf during their campaigns. I'd try to get even. First impressions mean everything in a situation like that.

The American Indians were friendly when the first whites landed. They observed the proprieties. Otherwise, there never would have been enough whites to decide to get rid of the dumb saps and make this a civilized country.

An Approach To Election

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

At a convention, it is all hoop-la and excitement. On the morning after the night before, the managers of election campaigns must plot a plan of action based upon factors that are complex.

So far as popularity is concerned, the candidates are almost reduced to movie stars making personal appearances. Instead of delivering a few well-written, carefully considered speeches, dealing with great domestic and international issues, they have to chase about the country on whistle stops, exhibiting themselves, shaking hands, kissing babies and producing their wives to prove something or other. It may be amusing to the people to get up at dawn to see a candidate in his bath-robe, bleary-eyed, telling them how much he loves Mudville Center—but it is not the serious business of a public debate.

The cold statistical calculation of the managers of the candidates has to do with the possibilities of elections. Presidents, be it remembered, are not directly elected by the people. Nor do the people have much choice. They are usually handed two names; sometimes a third. The choice is rarely as to who, out of the total population, would make the best President of the United States. It is rather, which of the two candidates would be least unsatisfactory. That is why practical politicians say that the people vote against, not for a candidate.

THE PRESIDENT is elected not on a national level, but by states. Each state has the right to a specific number of votes in the electoral college based on its membership in Congress.

Were a candidate to go only to the doubtful states, he might offend the people in the states where he is sure. He might even force such states from the sure to the doubtful.

Also, in many states, factors arise which have nothing to do with the popularity or unpopularity of a presidential nominee. A candidate for governor of the state or for United States Senator may influence the vote for President in a particular state.

So, the managers of a candidate plot their lines to see where they are likely to come out. The Democrats always counted on the 12 states of the solid South (including Oklahoma) to give them a foundation number of electors, 136. Having these much in hand, they turned to the big city vote composed of a large number of laborers and "minorities." Roosevelt invented the "minorities" by catering to their special interests and stimulating their special fears. Harry Truman specialized in labor groups to whom he made unusual concessions with outstanding success.

IN THE PAST, the Republican party calculated that they could use as their foundation the agricultural areas, particularly the middle West. When a state like New York was principally agricultural, it was generally carried by the Republicans. From the Civil War until 1936, the Republicans could always count on a solid negro vote in the North, but Roosevelt changed that.

The Republicans lost in 1932 because of the depression of 1929 and prohibition. They lost in 1936 because the country was willing to give Roosevelt a second term. They should have won in 1940, but Wendell Willkie failed to make a vital issue, except the third term; organization Republicans, in that campaign, in many states, sat on their hands.

In 1944 and 1948, the war years, the only possible issue was the conduct of the war. The Republican party was split between nationalists and internationalists. Many of the younger able men in the Republican party had gone to work for the administration in Washington, liked it, stayed there, and became part of the New Deal. The federal payroll had increased and the payroll vote, as well as subsidies to farmers and pensions for the aged, were reflected in the votes in every state.

BESIDES a twofold shift had taken place in the American population. First, instead of a predominantly rural people, we had changed over to an ever-increasing city population. In the cities, the process of fragmentation of our people into "minorities," into local groups of self interests and local concern, was given an importance not before known in American life.

The Republicans figure that they now have 25 governors. If they can hold those states, Eisenhower can be elected. Yet, one of those states is New York, which must stand as doubtful in the columns of both parties. There the so-called minorities hold the balance of power.

Atomic Progress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here is the time table by which the government has poured more than six billion dollars into construction costs alone for its five major atomic energy plants:

1943—The secret wartime Manhattan project started construction of a plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn., at a costly government-built city, to make Uranium 235 from the mineral in its raw form. Uranium 235 is the basic substance for atomic bombs and other atomic purposes.

The original Oak Ridge cost was figured at 915 million dollars but this has been expanded recently by 464 million in new construction for a total of $1,379,000,000.

1943—The Manhattan project started another secret plant at Hanford, Wash., to manufacture plutonium, a substance made from natural uranium which, like Uranium 235, can be used in bombs and other purposes.

November 1950—The commission announced a vast new 1 1/4 billion dollar project on the Georgia-South Carolina border. This plant has been called an H-bomb plant although the commission has said only that it will produce a variety of atomic materials which could be used if an H-bomb is developed or can be used for other atomic weapons and civilian needs. A recent expansion boosted construction costs to $1,421,000,000.

December 1950—The commission announced a 472 million dollar plant at Paducah, Ky., to produce Uranium 235 by gaseous diffusion, similar to the Oak Ridge plant. A recent supplement boosted the Paducah plant to a total cost of 950 million dollars.

Then came today's announcement of a $1,200,000,000 Uranium 235 plant in Pike County, O.

Q. & A. For Korean Veterans

Q. When do unemployment benefits become available to Korean veterans?

A. For the week of unemployment which comes after Oct. 14.

Q. What's the rule about mustering-out and unemployment compensation?

A. Veterans who were discharged prior to July 16, 1952, are not affected by mustering-out payments, since no benefits are payable under the act for 90 days after that date. Veterans eligible for $100 mustering-out pay must wait until 30 days following their discharge; those eligible for $200 must wait 60 days; and those eligible for $300 must wait 90 days. The 30, 60 or 90 days begin with the date of discharge.

Q. Just how much unemployment compensation does a Korean vet have coming to him?

A. The total benefit is $676. For total unemployment this can be $28 a week for 26 weeks. Benefits will be payable for weeks of less than full-time work. Earnings for less than full-time work and other deductible income under the State law will be used in determining the amount to be paid for any week.

Q. Under what special conditions are otherwise-qualified vets not eligible for unemployment money?

A. Vets are not eligible for unemployment compensation pay (1) while in training under either the new or old GI bill; (2) while drawing additional compensation for maintenance under the Federal Employees Compensation Act, or (3) while eligible for any other form of Federal or State unemployment compensation payments of at least $26 a week.

Q. What special job rights does a Korean vet now have under the new Bill of Rights?

A. He has a legal right to his old job. And he has certain preferences for government jobs.

Q. What about cadets or midshipmen as far as mustering-out pay goes?

A. They are not eligible.

Harry, Let's Eat!

Luncheon at the White House

Harry—Well, it's nice having you in the White House.

Adlai—If only for a preview?

Harry—There you go being modest again. How are things in Springfield, Mass.?

Adlai—You mean Springfield, Ill.

Harry—Don't tell me you're one of those Democrats who is a stickler for accuracy! Did you have a nice summer?

Adlai—It was pretty hot in July where I was, but somehow I got a bad cold.

Harry—You were sitting in a draft.

Adlai—Lots of people sit in drafts.

Harry—Not with such determination. By the way, I apologize for that chair you're sitting in at this luncheon.

Adlai—What's wrong with it?

Harry—Lincoln never sat in it. I tried to get one of his but the one we have lacks rockers.

Adlai—One gets a strange feeling sitting in one of Lincoln's chairs . . . the sensation of being in the company of the greatest President of all time.

Harry—I hope that's not a personal dig.

Adlai—Certainly not. I am sure you would get the same feeling if you sat in a Lincoln chair.

Harry—All you and I have to concentrate on is to keep Ike Eisenhower out of Lincoln's bed.

ADLAI—I'll do what I can if it takes my last ounce of humility.

Harry—I like this humble routine. I had it myself when I first came here. I remember I expressed the deepest humility and unworthiness for such a great job, and asked for everybody's help to make good. It's nice, but it never lasts. You'll get over it down here before you can say Jack Robinson.

Adlai—No, I think it is my nature to be humble. I always feel it in high office. I shall never shake it off.

Harry—Shucks, wait 'til you begin to get those Republican editorials, crackpot mail and reviews of your sons' singing.

Adlai—My sons can't sing.

Harry—That's what those blankety blank . . . said of my daughter!

Adlai—There's something about the very air here that makes a man feel unimportant and gives him a sense of history . . . an appreciation of the great company that has preceded him . . . a disposition to feel like a pygmy in the company of giants.

Harry—That's no way for a Democrat to feel. We haven't been kept in power here for 20 years because of a popular performance as Singer Midgets.

ADLAI—I suppose not, but this lunch does something to me . . . the atmosphere . . . the background . . . the mood!

Harry—That's the trouble with my cooks . . . I order a good substantial meal for you and you get moods, backgrounds and atmosphere.

Adlai (as a waiter brings on a steaming dish)—Are we having stew?

Harry—After what he did to me in that Missouri primary! . . . Look, Adlai, shall we discuss my idea of a whistlestop campaign for you?

Adlai—I was afraid we might have to! (Trying to change the subject.) We're monopolizing the conversation. Not a cabinet officer here has said a word so far.

Harry—This cabinet never wastes time with talk when there's food around. It's the eatingest cabinet a President ever had.

(There is a loud knocking on the ground-floor door. All hands register concern.)

Adlai—Who's that?

Harry—I never bother to see who's at the White House door these days. It might be Eisenhower!

SHUDDA HADDIM missed William Tell at a price because he asked about the animal and got the reply, "This is the big apple, and the question is, are they shooting?" . . . Haddim missed Four Jacks, too, at $42.60 because he thought they would be no good in a sport of kings . . . Mike Todd made a special feature of the recent full moon in advertising his Jones Beach show . . . He seemed extra tense the other day and when we asked what the trouble was, an assistant explained, "He's trying to arrange for two moons." . . . Bernard Baruch says he is shocked by the defeatist performance of OPS officials in the war on inflation . . . Don't you know, Bernard, that OPS is just a federal-operated merry-go-round with the musical recordings played in reverse and the horses facing backwards? . . . Now that the wonder of wonders, a Leo Durocher Day at the Polo Grounds, has been held, we await a John McGraw Memorial Day at Ebbett's Field.

Two parties Tuesday and the rehearsal dinner tonight will be climaxed with the marriage of Miss Norma Cunningham and Al-c David Evan Byers at 4 o'clock Thursday in the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church.

Mrs. Walter Taylor entertained for the bride-elect at a delightful personal shower party Tuesday afternoon at her home on the Winona Rd. Assisting in the arrangements were Mrs. Taylor's mother, Mrs. Ralph Crawford, and Mrs. Elmer Johnson.

The gifts were brought to Miss Cunningham by her cousin, Bonnie Peiffer of Harrisburg, who served as "messenger." Contests entertained with prizes going to Mrs. Russell Myers, and Mrs. E. K. Cunningham, mother of the bride-to-be.

In the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Howett and William Byers were hosts to the wedding party at a dinner in the Howett home on N. Ellsworth Ave. as a pre-nuptial courtesy for their brother and his fiancée.

Al-c Byers and Miss Cunningham presented their attendants with gifts following the dinner. Roses and white tapers in silver added beauty to the lace-covered table appointments.

This evening, Dr. and Mrs. Guy E. Byers will be hosts to the wedding party at the rehearsal dinner in their home on E. State St. The garden of their home will be the scene of the reception, following the wedding. Custom of open church will be observed for the nuptials and invitations have been issued for the reception.

Miss Mozelle Alvara Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward William Lee of 173 N. Howard Ave., became the bride of Louis Admal Lockhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lockhart of Ambridge, Pa., at 1:30 p.m. Aug. 2, at the A.M.E. Zion Methodist Church.

Rev. J. B. Cooper performed the single ring ceremony before a background of palms arranged in a fan shape. Roalf Lee gave his sister in marriage.

Miss Patsy Johnson of Coraopolis, Pa., niece of the bride, sang "Because" and the bride's sister, Mrs. James Boone, sang "Oh! Promise Me." Mrs. Emma Tibbs, organist, played "I Love You Truly," "Love's Old Sweet Song" and other traditional wedding music.

Bride's Gown

The bride's gown was ankle-length of white slipper satin with a charming lace bolero jacket and finger-tip veil. She wore a seed pearl tulle and carried a bouquet of white roses with a white satin ribbon.

She also wore a pearl necklace, gift of her husband, and carried her mother's handkerchief, and wore borrowed earrings to carry out the traditional theme.

Miss Shirley Edwards of Canton, maid of honor, wore a light green off-the-shoulder net over taffeta, with a matching stole. Her bouquet was of pink roses with a pink satin ribbon.

Ellsworth Lockhart was his brother's best man. Ushers were William Woodruff of Coraopolis, Pa., and William Epperson of Conway, Pa.

The bride's mother wore a pink dress with black accessories and a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother wore a blue dress and white corsage.

Friends Group Hears Speaker From India

Abu Sabho Dass of Delhi, India, was the guest speaker at the Friends Quarterly Meeting Men's Missionary Rally at the Damascus Friends Church Monday evening. About 100 members and guests from Alliance, Beloit, Canton, Damascus, Deerfield, East Goshen, Salem and Winona Friends churches attended.

Using as his Biblical text the Macedonian call of Paul to preach and help the Macedonians, Mr. Dass declared that the Macedonian call of the Apostle Paul's time is a symbol of the calls now being made by the needy peoples of the world to "come over and help us."

The speaker pointed out that Christianity is an advancing religion and the only religion in the world which can meet the challenge of the world. God's spirit knows no defeat; knows no impossibilities and will continue to advance as a mighty army.

The early church, he continued, made its greatest advancement under persecution, and because of the very nature of Christianity the church will continue to advance "even under the challenges imposed upon it today."

Mr. Dass was born into a family of Hindu priests and at the age of 14 was declared a priest serving in the temples with his father. He soon became dissatisfied and left the Hindu religions to take up the religion of Mohammed.

After committing the Koran to memory he was made a Mohammedan priest. Later, he turned to Communism and persecuted the Christians but he tells how he was then converted by those he hurt. He has been a Christian for nine years. Thru study he achieved a master degree in law and for a while he was a personal bodyguard to Gandhi and an active political leader in the National Congress party.

He has completed three years of college training in America and will return to India this fall where he will become a missionary.

Clarence Townsend of Salem was rally chairman. The evening concluded with an hour of fellowship and refreshments in Quaker Canyon.

Knights Of Columbus Plan Celebration

When Knights of Columbus members had their business meeting Monday evening, they made arrangements for a banquet for past Grand Knights and charter members of the council, to be held in conjunction with a celebration of the 75th anniversary of the Knights of Columbus organization. Ten members will be honored by exemplification in the first degree, Aug. 25, at the K. of C. home. There will be a social meeting Monday evening at the K. of C. clubrooms.

Reunion Is Held At Highland Church

A reunion of pupils and teachers of Highland School took place Sunday at Highland Church. The abandoned, one-room schoolhouse has been sold and is being remodeled into a home.

The basket dinner at noon attracted a large number of people. In the afternoon a business session was conducted by Clifford Aiken, president. Remarks were heard from some of the older students and from Mrs. Laura Gaunt Bates, a former teacher, who taught at Highland School in 1888.

Harry Lichy, pastor at Highland church, gave a short talk, and a group of girls sang two songs. Theima Stewart of Salem gave two readings and a piano duet was played by Lynne and Robert Clewell to conclude the program.

The reunion next year will convene on the second Sunday in August at the church with the following officers in charge: Clyde Farmer, president; Homer Gamble vice president; Mrs. Anna Aiken, secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Paul Yates, corresponding secretary.

Committees for the affair next year will be Mr. and Mrs. John Driscoll, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vincent, M. and Mrs. Charles Morlan and Mr. and Mrs. William Young (program); Mr. and Mrs. James Vincent, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Freeman and Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Aiken (table).

Roving Reports By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (U)—One of the perils of American office life these summer days is the returned vacationist.

He insists that you hear about his vacation—but he closes his big ears like a car door when you want to tell him about your vacation.

How can you deal with him? You can't get away. He will even trail you into the men's room to relate the strange things that happened to him. You would think no one else had taken a vacation before in the history of the human race.

The only sure way to halt him is to try to borrow money from him, or else top him by interrupting. "Oh, by the way, Joe, while you were gone I saw a flying saucer."

What the average office needs from June until Labor Day is a "vacation hour" each morning. For the first 60 minutes of each workday the office staff could assemble and listen en masse to the returning pilgrims tell the sad and wonderful story of what befell them. Anybody who even mentioned the word vacation the rest of the day would be automatically fired.

The office vacationists fall into pretty standard types. Here are a few you may recognize:

1. The postcard fiend—He writes you a postcard as he leaves his home, and stops off at every other filling station along the way to mail more. Two weeks after he is back at work you are still getting postcards about what a swell time he is having.
2. The calamity kid—Bee-stung and covered with poison ivy, he returns on crutches. "Just stopped by on my way to the hospital," he mumbles through his bandages. "The doc says I got to spend a month in bed. Will you handle my work while I'm gone?"
3. The sultry stenographer—She looks the color of a hand-rubbed walnut bookcase from days of beach sunning, and there are wedding bells in her eyes. But the new boy friend she met at the shore quits calling her up after three days, and for the rest of the summer she snaps at you if you even say "hello."
4. The camera nut—He has to be forcibly restrained from pulling down the office window blinds and trying to show everybody the interesting new movies he made of Niagara Falls.
5. The statistician—This boy not only has the figures of how much he paid for gas and oil at every stop—he also wants to tell you the air pressure in each tire the day he drove up Pike's Peak.
6. The everloving homebody—"Vacations are more fun at home," he begins. And for the next three hours he bores you with the details of how much money he saved and what a grand time he had repainting his little grey nest in the suburbs.
7. The funny fellow—Everything comical happens to him. "I threw my mother-in-law to the bears in Yellowstone Park," he says, "and guess what—they arrested me. How did I know you aren't allowed to feed the animals?"
8. The don't-let-'em-get-away-with-another-guy—"They try to rob you every step of the way," he moans, and neglects to mention the dime tip he pocketed that the tourist before him had left for the waitress at a hotdog stand in Tennessee.

9. The boss—"Aren't they cute?" he says, pulling out some snapshots of his children wearing striped bathing suits. And how can you tell him they look like baby saber-toothed tigers?

Well, there they are—the office Marco Polos. The odd thing is how dull their tales are.

I just got back from a vacation myself, and had a really unusual experience. Was just... when... (Editor's note: Enough of this. Boyle is a No. 7 vacationist himself.)

The next meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church will be held with Mrs. Harry Weikart Thursday afternoon, Sept. 4.

Experts Differ On Male Sex Hormone Injections

A correspondent who shall remain anonymous asks for a discussion of the impotent male of 50 years or "younger." This raises a question which is difficult to discuss, although doubtless important in many social aspects such as its relation to divorce as well as in its purely physical sense.

In letters addressed to this column, it is frequently tied with the question as to whether the writer should or should not take injections of male sex hormones.

First, it should be pointed out that psychological factors frequently have as much or more to do with the problem of potency as any change in the activity of the sex glands or other physical qualities.

Some experts claim that while the activity of the male sex glands does slow up with advancing age, the slowing up is so gradual that one cannot properly speak of a true "change of life" in men.

Others believe that, at least in some men, a decrease in functioning of these glands may come fairly rapidly and produce symptoms which justify speaking of a male change of life. They believe that men go through this period somewhat later than women do—usually between 45 and 55.

Perhaps most men do not have any symptoms at all which can be attributed to decreased functioning of the sex glands. Those who do, however, may (according to those who believe in a rapid change) have one or more of several symptoms.

Some describe a distinct feeling of tension with a sort of inward feeling of discomfort, which is made worse by excitement or fatigue, bad news, arguments or disturbances which would not bother a person ordinarily.

Some men during this time of life may be restless and complain of sleeping poorly. Numbness and tingling of the hands or feet is common. Headaches of various kinds are a frequent complaint. It is claimed that the memory becomes poorer and the ability to concentrate impaired. A mild feeling of depression also seems to be common.

Dizziness, palpitation of the heart, cold hands and cold feet, slight shortness of breath and sudden flushing of the face, neck and upper part of the chest are also mentioned. Waning of the sexual powers, real or imaginary, is a frequent reason why men of this age consult their physicians.

There have been many studies of the effect of injections of the principal male hormone (testosterone propionate) in men complaining of such symptoms as those mentioned.

Some claim that these injections, when given in proper doses and frequency, are helpful in relieving many of the symptoms, just as the female sex hormones are helpful in relieving many change-of-life symptoms in women.

However, the conservative view is expressed by one writer, who said "sex hormones should not be administered to men and women of climacteric (change of life) age with the idea of stimulating increased sexual potency; if this is the object of treatment, disappointment will result in the great majority of instances."

Stengel Worried About Yanks, Farm Players

Rookies Fail In Yankee Stadium

Still Claims Yanks Will Take Pennant

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel is worried about his bench and bullpen but he still thinks his New York Yankees will win the American League pennant.

"I think we're gonna win all right," he said. "But I think it's going to be a little tougher this year than it would have been if we had fellows like Bobby Brown, Gerry Coleman and Tom Morgan who went back into service."

"Some people are criticizing this team, saying it doesn't hustle. Well, we look bad now and then, like everyone else, but, mostly, my men are giving their best at all times. The trouble is that the best isn't as good as it was when we had those other fellows."

Stengel is particularly concerned about the failure of the Yanks' farmhands from Kansas City to live up to their reputations when they hit the Yankee Stadium.

"It's hard to believe they can't do any better up here after those big averages in Kansas City," he said. "I guess the triple A ball has gone down even more than the majors have. This isn't too good a league but the association must be awful."

Bob Cerv, a heavy slugger in Kansas City last season, failed to hit with the Yanks and went back to the minors. Kal Segrist was a .325 hitter in Kansas City but had only one hit in 24 trips with the Yanks. When they sent Segrist back, Andy Carey came up. He hasn't had a hit in 16 at bats.

The pitchers also failed to click. Harry Schaeffer and Tom Gorman, two more Kansas City grads, have made a total of four starts without pitching a complete game.

"The bench is the worst in my four years here," said Stengel.

Despite his troubles, Stengel still leads the league by 2½ games with only one more long Western trip to go.

Yesterday's Stars

Batting, Jim Dyck, Browns—Hit two home runs to top White Sox, 3-2, tying game in eighth and winning it in 11th inning.

Pitching, Stuart Miller, Cards—Rookie from Columbus broke into majors with six-hit shutout over Chicago, 1-0.

Indians Again Rained Out; Play Doubleheader Today

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, rained out in their last two attempts to start a game, are slated to take on St. Louis this evening in a doubleheader at Municipal Stadium.

Bob Feller and Early Wynn are set to pitch as the Tribesmen try to close the two and a half game gap by which the front running New York Yankees lead them in the pennant race.

Feller will be going after his ninth victory, against 11 losses.

Pitching for the Browns will be Cliff Fannin and Duane Pilette.

Al Lopez, Cleveland manager, thinks Tuesday's rain-out was a break for Mike Garcia, the pitcher he planned to use against Detroit.

For Big Mike (14-8) the rain meant he will have five days rest before facing the Browns Friday.

He has been chased four straight times since his last victory, July 24 against New York.

Browns Continue Daily Workouts

Three Quarterbacks Fight For Position

HIRAM, O. (AP)—Coach Paul E. Brown is smiling a bit these days. The first time since his Cleveland Browns lost the National Football League title to Los Angeles last December.

The precisionist pigskin professor has those "eagles in his eyes" as he puts his proteges through their paces here on the Hiram College campus.

Brown isn't saying much, but it's apparent he feels he has gathered as fine a crop of players as he's ever had—a group which might be welded into as powerful a unit as his unbeaten-untied All-American Conference champions of 1948.

Brown has problems, he admitted today. But the problems are the kind any professional coach prefers. They center, for the most part, around which of his talented athletes to dispose of to get down to the player limit of 33.

Otto Has Opponents

One of the most interesting scraps for berths features the quarterback spot. For years they have gambled and won on "Automatic Otto" Graham, but two capable challengers are giving him a tussle this season.

Trying to wrest the passing chores from Graham are George Ratterman, former Notre Dame luminary, and 22-year-old Don Klosterman of Loyola of Los Angeles.

Marion Motley, the huge Negro fullback who made the Nipper famous—and one of the professional game's most feared ball-toters—is back in the form he showed before his 1951 let-down because of bad knees.

One newcomer getting rave notices is Ray Renfro, 185-pound halfback from North Texas State College. Tagged by Brown as the fastest runner he's ever coached, the speedster probably has a position won as a spot carrier and kick return threat.

In early practices the Browns have worked at polishing up the same offensive weapons which have proved effective in the past. No radical changes in the basic system are planned.

High School Coaches Get Many Pointers

AKRON, O. (AP)—The classiest high school gridders in Ohio today were putting the finishing touches on their preparations for Saturday night's North-South All-Star game.

While they were going over the practice of the game, several hundred state high school mentors were digging deep into their theory, assisted by college coaches from all over the nation.

Among the lecturers for the coaches' clinic, which ends at the All-Star game, were Rip Engle of Penn State, Bernie Crimmins of Indiana, Rusty Russell of SMU, Ivy Williamson of Wisconsin, Sid Gillman of Cincinnati, Otis Douglas of Arkansas, Woody Hayes of Ohio State, Red Dawson of Pitt, and high schoolers John Albright of Middlebranch and Mel Knowlton of Alliance.

Tentative starters for the North-South game:

Toolers, K of C Win Class A Softball Tilts

Salem Tool and K of C captured victories last night at Kelley Park in Class A softball games when they topped Rufers and Electric Furnace in two of three scheduled contests.

K of C opened action for the evening with a tight 6-5 triumph over the Furnace nine. The Furnace took a 2-0 lead in the top of the second inning but lost the lead in the bottom of the third frame when the Knights of Columbus outfit came up with four big markers.

The Furnace team tied the score with two runs in the fourth frame but the K of C nine made it 6-4 with two runs in the bottom of the fifth inning. The Furnace nine tried to get back in the ball game in the top of the sixth inning when they tallied a run but couldn't force the tying run across the plate, losing 6-5.

Don Lane allowed the K of C outfit just three base hits but two errors and five walks played important parts in the game. Herb Kelly allowed seven hits to the Furnace nine, all of them singles.

The Toolers garnered seven hits off the pitching of Stan Kosky for a total of 12 runs in downing Rufers, 12-1, in the other game.

Leo Kline twirled three-hit ball for the winners, yielding all three hits in the final frame in his bid for a no-hit contest. A hit into centerfield and two other base blows caused Kline to lose a shut-out, also.

The Salem nine tallied two runs in the initial inning, were held scoreless in the second frame, got three in the third, two more in the fourth and topped it off with a five-run outburst in the fifth inning.

Tom Pastier led the Tool nine to the victory with a perfect night at the plate, getting two doubles and a triple in three times at bat. Jim Layden also tripled for the Toolers.

The third game of the evening saw Leetonia forfeit to Sears. The game was to be a clash between the second and first place teams, respectively.

This year will mark the 16th season in professional football for Sammy Baugh. All have been with the Redskins.

Merchants Begin Playoffs Friday

Meet Either Lisbon Or Negley At Park

The Salem Merchants will begin Friday in quest of the Columbiana County League baseball championship.

Depending on a playoff game to-night, the Merchants will play either Negley or Lisbon in a 6:15 game Friday evening at Centennial Park. Both Negley and Lisbon terminated their season with identical records of 12 wins, 12 losses.

East Liverpool and New Waterford also ended their regular season with records of 11-13 and they also will play tonight for the fourth position. One of the two teams will be eliminated.

The Salem combine, leader of the league with a 21-3 mark, will encounter the loser of the Negley-Lisbon contest, since the first and third place teams are to play while the second and fourth teams square off.

The initial game of the playoffs will be staged here in Salem with the second tilt going to Salem's opponent's field. Should a third game be necessary, it will be played back again at Centennial Park.

The winners of the two-of-three playoffs will then encounter in a final two-of-three series for the championship of the league. The Merchants have already captured the regular season championship with one of the best records ever posted in the loop. A victory in playoffs would make it a clean sweep for the locals.

Little Leaguers

The Salem Little League All-Stars captured an exhibition contest over East Palestine Little Leaguers Tuesday evening at East Palestine when they garnered eight hits for six runs while yielding just two hits to the East Palestine nine.

Both outfits went scoreless in the initial three frames but Salem came up with three runs in the fourth and three more in the sixth inning to rout the East Palestine outfit.

Salem pitchers Smith, Meissner and Stewart struck out 15 opposing batters. A large crowd attended the contest which was a benefit for a Little League who was involved in an accident.

This year will mark the 16th season in professional football for Sammy Baugh. All have been with the Redskins.

Miller Hurls Well As Cards Edge Cubs; Rain Halts Contests

By JACK HAND
AP Sports Writer

Stu Miller's sensational debut with the St. Louis Cardinals recalls the "good old days" when pitchers like Bill Hallahan, Dizzy and Paul Dean, Howie Pollet and Harry Brecheen used to pop out of the Card farm system each fall.

Now comes Miller, a 24-year-old righthander with an 11-5 record at Columbus, to stand the Chicago Cubs on their ears with a six-hit shutout, 1-0.

Just to prove he had it in the clutch, Miller breezed a 3-2 pitch past Bill Serena for a called strike in the ninth with men on first and third and two out.

Hal Rice's first-inning single scored Red Schoendienst with the game's only run, handing Bob Rush his 11th loss and second straight 1-0 defeat.

Tucked away in a corner of most papers last night was another story that may have an important bearing on the Cards' drive to narrow Brooklyn's lead.

To Join St. Louis

Harvey Haddix, a highly touted lefthanded pitcher, was discharged from the Army yesterday to rejoin the Cards immediately. Haddix just helped pitch his Ft. Dix team into the national semi-pro tournament. In 1950 he had an 18-6 record for Columbus, Miller's alma mater.

It's not likely, but it could be that Miller and Haddix may make the Cards a real threat to the Dodgers in the six weeks to come.

The New York Giants won't start any little miracle this Aug. 12. That became definite last night when their scheduled night game at Brooklyn was rained out. Having passed their anniversary (of the start of the 1951 push) in idleness, the Giants hope to launch their '52 spurt in a day-night doubleheader at Brooklyn today.

Brooklyn leads New York by nine games and St. Louis by 11.

The Boston at Philadelphia game in the National was washed out and Pittsburgh and Cincinnati were not scheduled.

Rain Idles Yanks, Tribe

Rain kept both the New York Yankees and runnerup Cleveland idle yesterday. The Yanks' home night game with Washington was put over to make a doubleheader today. Cleveland's home date with Detroit also was rained out.

Boston lost a chance to gain on the leaders by dropping a 13-inning game to the Philadelphia A's, who now trail the Yanks by only 7½ lengths. Billy Hitchcock's single scored Gus Zernial in the 13th to top the Red Sox, 4-3, after Clyde Vollmer's two-run homer tied the score in the eighth.

Carl Scheib allowed 10 hits in his route-going chore, limiting the Red Sox to one hit after Vollmer's homer. Al Benton, who relieved Dizzy Trout at the start of the 12th, was charged with the loss as Zernial singled, took second on a sacrifice and scored on Hitchcock's hit.

Jimmy Dyck took matters into his own hands to power the St. Louis Browns to a 3-2 win, over the Chicago White Sox in 12 innings. Dyck's first homer ties the score in the eighth and his second won the game for Gene Bearden in the 12th. Bearden, Cleveland's pennant-winning hero in 1946, allowed only five hits in posting his sixth comeback victory.

Conerly Sparks Victory

ST. PETER, Minn. (AP)—Hitting for 12 of 21 passes, three of them for touchdowns, Chuck Conerly Tuesday night sparked his Green Giants to a 20-7 exhibition football win over the parent New York Giants pro team.

Lopez Credits Feller With Staff's Success

CLEVELAND (AP)—Manager Al Lopez credits Bob Feller with making the Cleveland Indians pitching staff the best in baseball even though Bob is having one of the worst years in his career.

"Mike Garcia, Early Wynn and Bob Lemon are the fine pitchers they are because of Feller," Lopez declared. "Of course, Mike, Early and Bob had to have the ability. Feller showed them the way."

Lopez said the other hurlers "saw Bob, the highest paid pitcher in baseball, work harder than any other player in the game. He made it obvious that hard work pays off, and the others followed his example."

Campaign

tentatively had accepted a date to talk in Milwaukee the same day.

Although this matter was discussed at an hour's meeting at which Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, the vice presidential nominee, sat in, no decision was said to have been reached.

Stevenson said on his return to Springfield, Ill., that if arrangements can be worked out "I think we both may speak on the same day."

The tentative bookings had been made without each other's knowledge.

Stevenson described Truman as being "just as co-operative as he can be," and he added: "All he wants to do is what we want him to do."

Asked if Truman would play the role of "buck private in the rear ranks," Stevenson said, "That's what he said he would be."

The dramatic White House meeting was the first in which a retiring President met the nominee of his own party to discuss campaign plans since the late Calvin Coolidge did not choose to run again in 1928.

Out of it came the definite impression that Stevenson alone will call the turn on his campaign and that Truman's part in it will be on a selected and limited basis.

However, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Stevenson's Republican opponent for the presidency, blasted the White House meeting with a statement that Truman and his Cabinet obviously want the people to know that the Democratic nominee "is subservient to the political forces which have too long been in power in our country."

Before and since his nomination, Stevenson has tried to make it clear he is avoiding any direct links with the Truman administration and is prepared to effect a wholesale turnover in Washington if he is elected.

He was said to be in general agreement with the President on the issues to be emphasized during the campaign and this apparently prompted Stevenson's announcement on the White House steps yesterday that he had "a very satisfactory and reassuring and gratifying talk with the President about the campaign."

After the Illinois governor had expressed deep gratification for the President's "offer of co-operation in every respect and in every degree," Truman took his turn. Expressing pleasure at the opportunity to conduct Stevenson and Sparkman on a tour of the White House, Truman said:

"The meeting has been very satisfactory from my viewpoint. We have discussed various things. The details will be worked out at a later date but I think we are both happy and satisfied that the meeting took place. I am sure that I am."

It's Romeo, Not Roger, With Buzz Boys

Alas and alack!

It's almost more than a flap-happy buzz boy can take.

Roger, who gained fame throughout the globe during World War II—in the shrapnel-filled skies over Europe, Asia, the Pacific and the Atlantic—apparently has been tossed over for Romeo, who claims fame to nothing but being William Shakespeare's balcony-wooer.

In fact, the U. S. Civil Aeronautics Administration scuttled Roger from control towers across the country April 1 and directed tower operators not to mention Roger again—instead, use Romeo.

BUT AIRLINE and private pilots are standing behind Roger 100 percent and are refusing to have any truck with Romeo, the venerable lover of Juliet, who has also found a place in the CAA's heart.

It all began with the announcement April 1 that the CAA would adopt a new phonetic alphabet to replace the old one—Able, Baker, Charlie, Dog, Fox, and so on. And, the CAA said, all pilots would use the new phonetic alphabet—Alfa, Bravo, Coco, Delta, Fox, trot...

With employees of the CAA, it sounded all right. But commercial and private pilots immediately took offense because the CAA had not asked their opinions concerning the new alphabet before it was ordered put into use.

THE PILOTS, more or less, got the feeling, they said, that the CAA was trying to cram something down their throats.

Instead of ferreting out the commercial and private pilots' feelings, the CAA took to the new alphabet submitted by the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO) which is literally the United Nations of the aviation world. It is made up of two full-time delegates from each of 58 countries throughout the world and it attempts to promote progress, internationally, in the field of aviation.

The ICAO submitted the new phonetic alphabet to the CAA and explained that the reason it was being offered to replace the old phonetic alphabet was because most of the words in the new alphabet could be translated in practically every language whereas the Able, Baker, Charlie alphabet can not be translated.

THE CAA thought it over, without polling private and commercial pilot organizations, apparently, and decided to adopt it April 1 and make usage of the new alphabet mandatory in another year.

But pilot groups balked. The International Federation of Air Line Pilots said the new air-ground phonetic alphabet for aviation is "unacceptable and unnecessary."

There is a movement taking wing in another organization, the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association to asked the CAA to drop the new phonetic alphabet entirely and keep the Able, Baker, Charlie alphabet in use.

HERE ARE THE two phonetic alphabets in question:

| Old | New |
|---------|---------|
| Able | Alfa |
| Bake | Bravo |
| Charlie | Coco |
| Dog | Delta |
| Easy | Echo |
| Fox | Foxtrot |
| George | Golf |
